FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, April 27-6 P. M. The Wall street markets continue active and excited. The animation of the hour extended to the om with the effect of producing

A STRONG AND ACTIVE GOLD MARKET. operators in this department only awaited the ignal of the death of the Funding bill to start the remium on an upward movement, and were, ugh a stroke of good luck, assisted ne statistics of the exports for the last reek showing a falling off to $3,200,000 against an increase in the imports to over $7.000,000. At the same time the leading bankers advanced the rate of exchange, the supply of commercial bills on the market being almost exhausted, while the advance in government securities precludes their shipment, if it do not bring back some from the other side. The advance in gold brought out a heavy "bear" attack, but the chique encountered it unfinebingly, and finally succeeded in running up the price from 113% a 114%, the market recovering at the chique of the latter flower which had been intermed. the close to the latter figure, which had been interme-diately attained, its final strength being due to the sharp advance in five-twenties on the street. The transactions in gold to-day were on a very exten sive scale, and the clearances to morrow are expected to reach seventy millions. The increased short interest as the premium advanced is reflected in the de-scent of the carrying rate from 6 to 2 per cent. Assistant Treasurer Folger to-day patd out $500,000, gold, on account of the May interest, making a total disbursement since Monday morning of $6,000,000, or

There was little or no reaction in the course of rices at the Stock Exchange, their direction being still upward. The market was strong, and closed firm at the highest prices of the day. The cliques are all insaccord on the question of advancing quota-tions to still higher figures. The success of the fact that there is no organized opposition on the "bear" side to sow the seeds of dis-trust in the public mind. Usually such a process is successful for the reason that the "bears" unsettle confidence by fearlessly selling the market down, with the effect of tumbling out all the long stock field by the street. Now they are all on the "buil" side—the natural position in an easy money market—and the bearish efforts of outsiders only strengthen them in their operations by providing a demand for stocks which would not otherwise exist. Were there no "bears" there would be no "bulls." Among the special features of the day was the scarcity of Northwestern common—the cash stock commanding as high as one per cent more than that unable to make their deliveries at the usual hour, and the purchasers had the stock bought at the concerning Northwestern, and a "corner" is not improbable. Pacific Mail was also strongly active under effort of the shorts to cover, their apprehensions being aroused by the further recommendation of the Postmaster General for an increase of the subsidy to he China route. The extreme fluctuations were as

The Southern list was dull in its main features, but steady. The Alabamas were exceptionally strong, se to 104 bid for the eight per cents. The old South Carolinas were firm and the new bonds lower. THE MONEY MARKET.

There was a fair demand for money at five per cent on miscellaneous collaterals, but borrowers on governments were accommodated at four per cent. The greater activity was the result of the expanding volume of business at the Stock Exchange; for the banks are still abundantly supplied with funds. Commercial paper was current at 6% to 7% per cent for prime double names. Some "gilt-edged"

bankers' and dry goods paper was discounted at

THE LAST RECKONING.

Farewell Salute for the Young Democracy-The Court of Special Sessions Reorganize Under the Old System-The Appointing Power Vested in the Mayor-A Chance for Judge Dowling to Chuckle-Comptroller Councily

Reappointed for Five Years.
It will be seen by the following clause, taken from ne tax levy as amended and passed by the Legislature, that the only successful move which the "young" (and short lived) democracy could claim the prestige of carrying has been completely extinguished. The Court of Special Sessions, formerly held by Justices Dowling and Keily, was the first point of attack by the Tuscaroras early in the legislative session. They deprived those parties of the power of holding the court, and distributed the terms in rotation among all the po-lice justices. The following clause abolishes the young democracy system and provides that the court shall be held by two justices to be designated by the Mayor. Justice Dowling will be one of the appointees and the second is yet to be named. This gives the coup de grace to the revolters and leaves of them merely a bitter memory of baffled hopes and as

The Court of Special Sessions of the peace in and for the city and county of New York shall hereafter be held by those two Police Justices of the city of New York who shall be designated for that purpose by the Mayor of said city, under his hand and seal, within thirty days after the passage of this act. Whereupon they shall, in holding said court, exclusively possess all the powers and duties now possessed by justices of said court, and also the power to adopt court rules and to appoint and at pieasure remove all cierks, stenographers and other officers in said court. In the event of any vacancy the Mayor shall immediately in like manner aforesaid designate any other Police Justice to fill it. In case of any disability of either of the two Police Justices to hold court, it shall be legal for the other to hold it while such disability continues. All provisions of law inconsistent herewith are repealed.

Comptroller Richard B. Connolly was yesterday reappointed by the Mayor as Comproller of the city and county for a term of five years. Mr. Connolly duly qualitied and at once entered upon his new lease of official life. pirations:-

AN AMBITIOUS SPOTTER.

The only trial of importance heard yesterday by cinct, against olicer strowning. From the evidence it appeared that Browning found the door of a building on Mercer street open. The roundsman tola him to take charge until he proceeded for an officer to assist in the search. No assistance coming to him, Browning called a private watchman, and stationed him at the door, while he searched the premises with a lantern. McGioln, returning, found the watchman Abelo at the door, and ordered him to leave. He refused to go until relieved by Browning. McGioln then called upon Browning to expet the watchman, and the order was not complied with, Browning remarking that he required the services of the watchman's lannern to enable him to fasten the door. McGioln flew into a rage, arrested the watchman, made a bogus charge of assault and battery against him at the desk, which was not entertained by Captain McDermott. McGioln on the trial charged that the watchman was drunk. The latter proved he was not, and charged that McGioln was, McGioln did not prove that he was not intoxicated. One of the Commissioners, who is familiar with the roundsman's overbearing manner towards the men, expresses the opinion that he should be put back in the ranks, and to the ranks he goes, unless he conducts himself better in the future.
